Thank you for the time taken to review the document and the helpful comments. Please note that the pages referenced to not equate to those in the discussion paper. They appear to correspond to a first version which was subsequently modified (including some re-organisation) in response to the associate reviewer comments, prior to publication for discussion. This complicates the response to the review somewhat but we will do our best to match the comments to the discussion paper.

Please see the supplement for detailed responses.
