

The revised version of the manuscript answers all the reviewers concerns and some paragraphs have been rewritten/restated to clarify the approach followed by authors. All comments have been addressed and explained/corrected.

Thus I recommend the manuscript to be accepted for publications, since the study and evaluation of water vapor from AERONET version 3 algorithm is of great significance for various fields of atmospheric science.