

This update addresses the proposed origin of the yearly variation to be the Earth-Sun distance.

This is not possible due to the time of perihelion near early January and the offset in days typically found for the sine wave fit. It also references the TROPOMI L1b ATBD.