

Dear Andrew,

many thanks for accepting the paper, and for your suggestions about the frequent use of "it should be noted".

We followed your advice and removed this phrase at several locations in the text. At a few locations we found it still meaningful and kept it.

Best regards,

Thoams