

This manuscript introduces an interesting multi-static meteor radar system, Chilean Observation Network De MeteOr Radars (CONDOR), including its installation, initial results and wind comparison with co-located lidar. This manuscript is worth publishing. I just have one more suggestion here.

The authors claimed that “The successful deployment...permit the retrieval of ...vertical winds.” But vertical winds are not shown in section 3 or 4. Could the authors supplement the results of vertical wind?