

Figure A. (a) the downwelling radiance measurements made during two consecutive measurement cycles on 11th February. (b) the difference between these spectra and their average showing that the difference is smaller than the total measurement error.